The Ministry of Transport and the Ministry of Energy to estimate the volume of generation and investment for the electrification of the entire BAM by December

The Ministry of Transport and the Ministry of Energy of Russia will estimate the necessary volume of generation for the electrification of the entire BAM and investment in this within one to two months, First Deputy Minister of Transport of the Russian Federation Valentin Ivanov told journalists on Monday, 23 September.

President Vladimir Putin, speaking at the Eastern Economic Forum, called the expansion of the Eastern Polygon, which includes the BAM and the Trans-Siberian Railway, the most important and largest project. In particular, speaking about the BAM, he pointed out that the Mainline should not only be made completely double-track, but also electrified.
