Power engineers are quickly restoring electricity in the Kursk region

Power supply is being quickly restored in the border areas of the Kursk region. This was reported on Monday, 12 August, by Denis Manturov during an operational meeting with Russian leader Vladimir Putin.

According to Manturov, transformers are constantly being damaged and power is being cut off in the Kursk region. Rosseti's specialists are travelling to safe areas to restore power supply. However, where it is impossible to do this, switching occurs, he noted in a conversation with the President of the Russian Federation.
